funny dice game for 2 people ..... come the horses to the finish .... ??? ... The goal is to reach the last common field on the racetrack with a horse. Because of the fact that at any time a horse can run into the ditch and you have to start anew and take a new horse, the game is a bit difficult to win. game start

The youngest player starts to roll the dice and immediately places his rolled number with his first horse on his way towards the finish. The first horse is placed in the hole, with the number rolled, hoping that it will stand and not fall into the ditch. Because some holes are drilled through and at these points on the track it is possible that one can lose his horse already at the first attempt. Then the two-player player rolls the dice and sets his rolled-up number with his color on his path and hopes that he will not run into the ditch with his horse. Then the first player with dice turn and continue with his horse towards the finish. Dan rolls the second player and so on ...

Goal of the game Horse Racing

The goal is to reach the last common field on the racetrack with a horse. Because of the fact that at any time a horse can run into the ditch and you have to start anew and take a new horse, the game is a bit difficult to win. Each player may only have one horse on the track and should this fall into the ditch, he may bring another horse into the race. If a player has lost all 6 horses the player who owns at least one horse has won. The player who first enters the last field of the course with a horse, one has to reach the playing field directly with his horse with one number, has won.
